FARM SUCCESSION CHECKLIST

To achieve a successful farm transition, interested parties should actively communicate with one another. Conversations should take place between spouses, farming partners, the next generation, and relevant business planning professionals. Here are the questions that should be considered when engaging in the farm succession process:

STEP ONE: Determine Goals and Objectives

Do the interested parties want the farm to remain in the family's possession?
Do the interested parties want the farm to continue as a farm?
Do the current farm owners want to remain in the management of the farm?
Do the current farm owners want to maintain any financial control over the farm?
Do the current farm owners want to remain physically involved with the farm?
Do the current farm owners want to slow down or retire at a certain age?
Do they aspire to travel or have other interests they want to pursue?
Is anyone in the next generation interested in the farming operation?
Have all interested parties been included in the farm succession conversations?
Have the interested parties attended any farm succession educational meetings?
Who do the current owners want to be the farm successor?
Do the current owners want full market value for the farm?
Do the current owners want to be paid in installments or in a lump sum?
Have the parties considered which professionals (such as attorneys and accountants) they would like to work with to farm succession?	achiev	e the
Has anyone among the interested parties been selected to be in charge of coordinating the succession process to en and objectives are met in a timely manner?	isure go	als
